We are happy to provide our many years of expertise to achieve the best possible solution.

“We have more than 25 years of experience in Greenland. We carry out projects of all sizes and contract types for both private and public clients.”

That is why we have great respect for the climate and do not use it as an excuse for irregularities or delays. On the contrary, it is a condition that we have learned to live with and adapt to.

It requires extra careful planning and a good ability to anticipate possible difficulties, but we take these as exciting challenges. For us, the construction industry in our country is not just a job, but also a way of life.

Our ambitions and personal interests in quality construction under Arctic skies mean that part of our work is to focus on new materials and methods. Keeping up with the times.

Community and collaboration are key words in our policy and daily operations. In our world, a trusting community with colleagues and partners across industries and companies is not only valuable, but a prerequisite for a successful end result. Our entire organization is therefore built on the premise that each individual works from a set of values that permeate everything we do.

THESE INCLUDE:

- The willingness to take personal responsibility
- The ability to cooperate and value the community
- A positive attitude towards oneself and others
- Respect for each other and for the society we are a part of
- A willingness to acquire education and competence development

As a natural consequence of this set of values, EMJ-ATCON has an active CSR policy. We take our responsibility seriously. What we say about our responsibility for people, the environment and the development of a sustainable society are concepts that are a natural part of everyday life for us.

“Community and collaboration are key words in our policy and daily operations.”
